RATES OF ADVERTISING.—The London Court Journal relates the following instance of the royal Estimating the performances of the celebrated Jenny Lind:

"In the last scene of the 'Soubanibula,' the interest grows (says the critic) into a climax that fairly lifts one from one's seat in sympathetic enthusiasm!" The Queen and suite go almost every night to hear her.—On the first night, the 'John Bull' relates: Her Majesty arrived before the curtain of the overture, and during the performance of the opera, she gave the audience of the dolls a hearty hand, and by bestowing her applause with a degree of energy scarcely surpassed by any lady in the theatre; and at the close of the opera, when the fair cantatrice was summoned before the curtain to receive the final stamp of approbation from the audience, Her Majesty so far thrice nerved her queenly dignity as to cast a superb bouquet, which lay before her in the royal box, at the foot of the debutante.

Comment. Anomalous.—A correspondent of the Pennsylvaniaian, writing from Elmira, (Pa.) June 11, says: "About one year ago, a man calling himself Ward, hailing from Baltimore, and by profession a Baptist preacher, came to this town. He commenced his ministry in fine style, making converts and proselytes by the score, until the congregation concluded to engage his clerical services. He landed in the family of a very respectable man by the name of Mr. Mills, had a daughter Sarah, a young girl of seventeen or eighteen years of age, to whom it is thought the Reverend gentleman made love, and on Thursday last, the enamored pair started together eastward; but to what part of this sublunar globe 'this deponent' and his mate are踪踪 about home, cannot exactly tell. The last that was heard of them was that they had taken the direction of Belfield, or up the West Branch of the Susquehanna river. What makes the Reverend rustic's conduct in this affair still worse is, that it is a well known fact in the place that he has at this time a wife and children in Baltimore."
